Mohammad Abdallah Hamayel
Palestinian journalist based in Ramallah. He works as a correspondent and presenter at Press TV Channel. Before that, Mr. Hamayel was a presenter of Press TV’s program "Coffee in Palestine." He also hosted that channel’s programme "Top Five," among others. Prior to that, he worked with the Yasser Arafat Foundation, the Human Rights and Democracy Media Center “Shams,” and Shabab FM Radio. Mr. Hamayel has a BA in Media and Television from Al-Quds University. He enjoys reading about philosophy, history and comics. A fan of film director Stanley Kubrick, he also follows Quentin Tarantino, Jim Jarmusch, Michelle' Gundry, among others. @M_Hamayel

Reema Alrakhawi
Palestinian journalist who has spent her life between Palestine, the U.A.E, and the U.K. Her passion for journalism started at an early age in Gaza. Ms. Alrakhawi is now a freelance journalist. Her most recent assignments were with Al-Ekhbariya TV, BBC Arabic and Alaraby TV station. She also worked as the exclusive Red Carpet Presenter for the British Music Awards, which is the biggest annual music event in the U.K. Ms. Alrakhawi covered major sporting events in the U.K. for Alkass TV. She has a BA in English Literature from Al Azahar University, Gaza, Palestine, and another BA in Journalism from City University, London, U.K.

Lamees Assaf
Graduated from Yarmouk University, Jordan, with a BA in Mass Communication majoring in TV and radio. Ms. Assaf worked as a reporter, producer and presenter at different community radios. Her carrier started from her college years while working as a radio producer, reporter, and director at the University’s radio station Yarmouk FM. Currently, she serves as the Outreach Manager of 7iber.com online magazine. Ms. Assaf’s duties also include writing about culture, human rights and international films. In addition, she conducts trainings on digital security and social media.

Alaa Daraghma
Graduated from Al-Quds University in Palestine with a BA in Journalism and Media. He is currently working as a freelance producer and video journalist. Mr. Daraghma produced feature stories, reports and short films that were published on AJ+ (Arabic and English), Aljazeera English Channel, Middle East Eye, Konrad Adneuar Stiftung, among others. He also worked with many local and international institutions as a part time media coordinator. Mr. Daraghme is skilled in writing, communication, social networking, photography and editing. https://daraghme92.wordpress.com/
2017 United Nations Training Programme for Palestinian Journalists

30 October – 1 December 2017
United Nations Headquarters
New York

BIOGRAPHIES

Amena ElAshkar
Palestinian refugee living in Lebanon. She has a BA in Translation and Interpretation from the Lebanese International University, Beirut, Lebanon. Ms. Ashkar is now a news editor, producer and presenter at Palestine Today TV network. She is also a correspondent for a number of other Palestinian news agencies and websites, most notably Al-Quds News Agency. Ms. ElAshkar also volunteers as a translator and presenter of the North America Nakba Tour.

Ali Ghaith
Born and raised in Jerusalem. Although Mr. Ghaith has an MA in Biotechnology and Genetic Engineering from Aston University in the U.K., he has always been interested in media and journalism. Mr. Ghaith found his passion in working with the French Television (TF1) for six years, from 2011 to 2016, as Regional TV Producer. He was responsible for covering and producing news stories from different parts of the Middle East during the Arab Spring. Currently, Mr. Ghaith is the Founder and CEO of MOUV Media, which focuses on producing and executing media projects for clients in the public and private sectors. @alighaith01

Qassam Muaddi
Multilingual freelance journalist based in Ramallah. Mr. Muaddi is also youth trainer for Caritas Jerusalem. Graduated from the Journalism School of the University of Strasbourg, France, his news reports and articles are published in French La Vie weekly, Lebanese newspaper Assafir, and Palestinian newspaper Al Ayyam, among others. His writings focus on socio-political stories from Palestine. In 2014, during the war in Gaza, he was in charge of the French language coverage of the Palestinian Quds News Network’s social media platforms. Currently, Mr. Muaddi writes for the Palestinian monthly Itijah. Mr. Muaddi co-published two books in French and is preparing to publish his first solo book in Arabic.

Razan Najjar
Palestinian journalist, born and raised in Ramallah. Ms. Najjar is currently working as a news presenter and content editor at Raya FM Radio Station, Ramallah. She is also managing medical content at the largest medical website in the Arab region Webteb: https://www.webteb.com/. Her health focused radio programme can be considered the first of its kind in Palestine. Ms. Najjar has a BA in Media and Journalism, with minor in Sociology, from Birzeit University, Palestine. @RazanNajjar1
BIOGRAPHIES

Nour Qudeimat
Journalist and producer at Palestine News Network (PNN), and Communications Officer of the Lajee Cultural Center in Aida Refugee Camp, Bethlehem. Ms. Qudeimat has a BA in English Literature from Bethlehem University. She started her career working as a translator for PNN. After that, Ms. Qudeimat transitioned into becoming a journalist, focusing on photography and production. She produced artistic YouTube videos, reports about clashes and demonstrations in Bethlehem and, most recently, short documentary films and feature videos for PNN.

Suzan Suleiman
Palestinian refugee living in Lebanon. Ms. Suleiman has a BA in Radio and TV from Arts, Science and Technology University in Beirut. She is also working to finish her MA in Journalism from the Lebanese University. Currently, she is working with Al Quds TV as a producer of the economic and political bulletin, as well as the daily programme “Palestine in Journalism.” Prior to that, she worked at Palestine Today TV. Her dream is to be an international correspondent covering political and humanitarian issues, and focusing on the question of Palestine.